President George Bush visited Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport yesterday and addressed the 50th anniversary of the Naval Command College along with students, Rhode Island elected officials, guests and staff in Spruance Hall at the Naval War College (NWC).

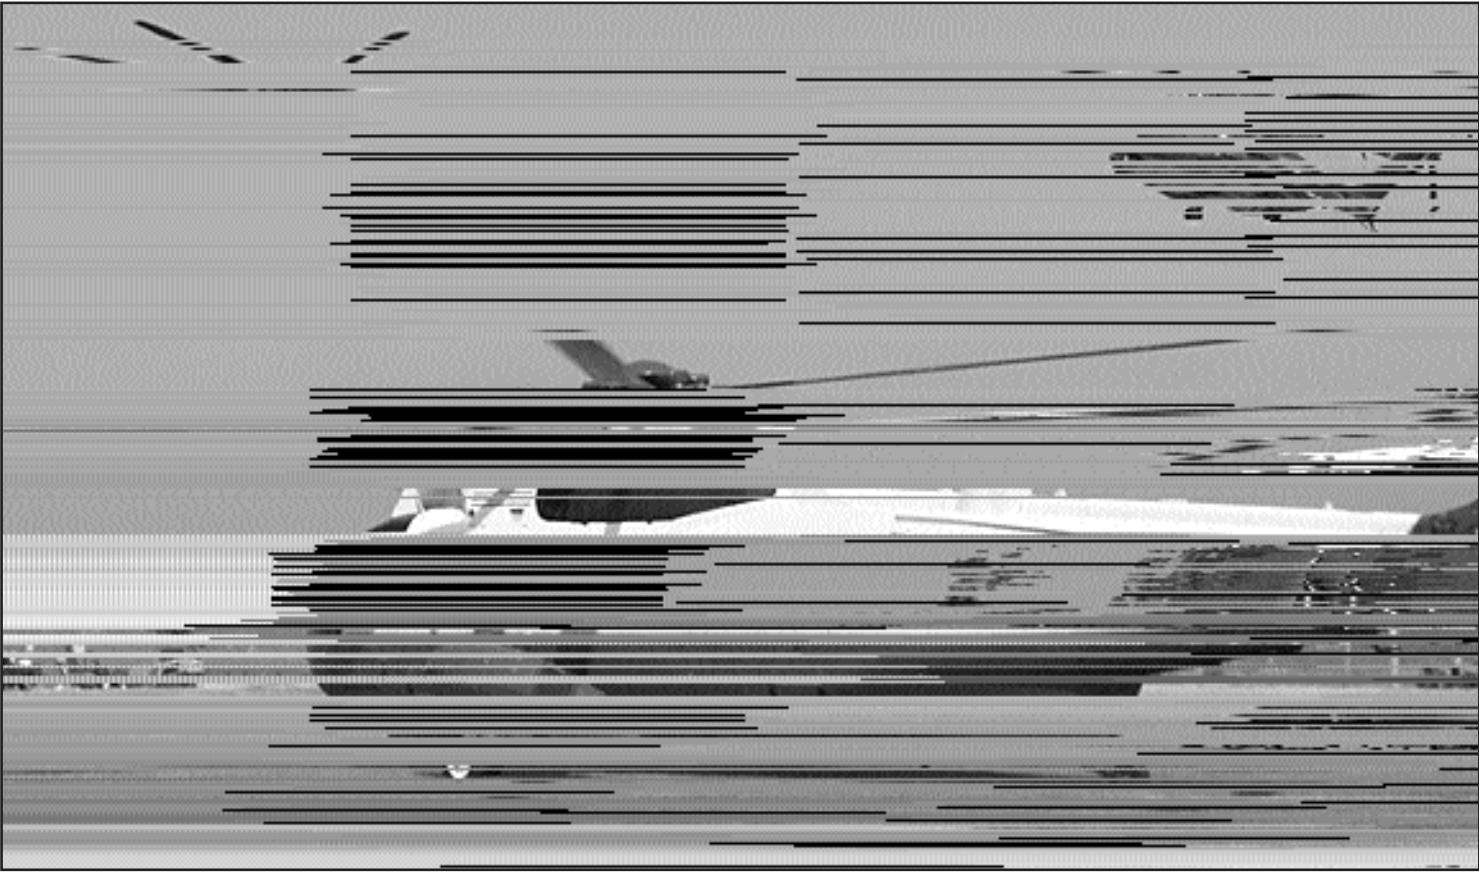

It was the commander-in-chief's first visit to the Ocean State since elected, and the first president in office to visit the naval establishment since John F. Kennedy was here in 1961.

Since Rhode Island is one of just two states that Bush has never visited during his presidency, R.I. Gov. Donald Carcieri extended an invitation several months ago.

The president's U.S. Marine Corps Marine 1 helicopter, escorted by four others, left from R.I. Air National Guard Base at Quonset and landed on the Naval Academy Prep School's new baseball diamond behind Capt. Howard Kay Hall on Coddington Point about 10:45 yesterday morning.

The helicopters had a dry run on the approach over the water on Tuesday.

The presidential limousine drove down Elliott Avenue, exited through Gate 2, reentered the base through Gate 1, and into the underground garage below Colbert Plaza of the Naval War College. He was met upstairs by the president of the college, Rear Adm. Jacob Shuford, and Gov. Carcieri, and they escorted him into Spruance Hall. After introductions, Bush spoke to those assembled about the global war on terrorism.

Cmdr. Karen Sellers, public affairs officer at NWC, said the president was scheduled to return yesterday afternoon to meet privately at McCarty-Little Hall with Gold Star families. They are families who have had servicemembers killed in Iraq and Afghanistan. Invited were the families of a U.S. Coast Guardsman, seven U.S. Army soldiers, and four U.S. Marines killed in action.

Fireworks to follow Navy Band concert

Naval Station Newport and the Morale, Welfare, and Recreation Department will present the "Celebrate America" Concert and Fireworks extravaganza, featuring the Navy Band Northeast, tonight on Dewey Field.

The Northeastern Navy Showband, the band's big band jazz ensemble, will open the show at 6:15 p.m. At approximately 8 p.m., the Concert Band will take the stage to perform patriotic marches and light concert pieces. The program will include a salute to veterans of all services.

A spectacular 25-minute fireworks display beginning about 9 p.m. has been enhanced with late donations.

BRISTOL — Nearly 100 students from Officer Training Command Newport will march in one of the nation's oldest continuous Independence Day celebrations, the 223rd annual Military, Civic and Firemen's Parade on Wednesday, July 4. The parade will start 10:30 a.m.

The Officer Indoctrination School and the Naval Science Institute are among Navy in Newport elements in the First Division that will march along the two and one-half mile route starting at the corner of Hope and Chestnut Streets. The parade ends on High Street between State and Bradford Streets at the Town Common.

Rear Adm. Jacob L. Shuford, President, Naval War College, will lead the Navy Division as this year's division marshal.

Other units from Naval Station Newport will include the Navy Band Northeast marching band, a Marine color guard from the Marine Detachment Newport, and a Navy color guard from Naval Health Clinic New England.

The Navy's visiting ship, USS Stephen W. Groves (FFG 29), will provide a marching unit and participate in the festivities. The Groves, homeported in Mayport, Fla., is an Oliver Hazard Perry-class guided missile frigate. The Groves is scheduled to arrive today, and will be anchored in waters off Bristol, R.I. The ship is commanded by Cmdr. Jon C. Kreitz.

The following military escorts and members of the Congressional delegation are scheduled to march in the PARADE, Page 10

Military and Department of Defense personnel, with normal access to Naval Station Newport, are welcome to watch the finale of the Amica Tall Ships Rhode Island 2007 – the Parade of Sail up Narragansett Bay on Sunday, July 1. Newport WADK radio will broadcast live from the decks of the Officers' Club as the procession of 20 full-rigged ships, barques, brigs, and schooners head north from Coast Guard Station Castle Hill at 12:30 p.m., pass under the Newport Pell Bridge, pass Dewey Field, circle around Gould Island, then head south out to sea. They will be led by Rhode Island's tall ship, the sloop Providence.

Food concession tents, and inflatable slides and moonwalks, balloon creations and face-painting for children will be set up on Dewey Field.

About 200,000 visitors are expected this weekend to view and board the ships in and around Newport Harbor, and at Fort Adams. Thousands of people will find vantage points along Jamestown, Newport

Naval sea cadets due from several nations

By BOB KREKORIAN
NAVSTA Public Affairs Staff

Thirty naval sea cadets and their adult escorts representing five European and Asian nations, and Canada, will visit Naval Station (NAVSTA) Newport, July 1 to 12, for the second consecutive year under the International Exchange Program of the U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps (USNSCC). The local host Sea Cadet unit is the USNSCC of Rhode Island, under the command of CW02 David Kerwood, USNSCC of North Kingstown.

"This program is designed to be a fun program involving cadets from the international community, and it provides U.S. cadets with an excellent opportunity to interact with cadets from other countries," said Kerwood, the senior escorting officer.

Cadets selected for the program must be 16 years or older, E-3 or above, have been awarded the NSCC cadet citation ribbon or higher, and recommended by the unit commanding officer.

During the first week, cadets of the 2007 International and Canada East Exchange Program will visit the Surface Warfare Officers School Command (SWOSCOLCOM) for a damage control and engineering orientation. Cadets will learn about team work during an orienta-

First class of 10 legalmen graduate

By Lt. KEVIN GERRITY
Naval Justice School

It has been nearly three years since the last class of Navy legalmen graduated from the Naval Justice School at Naval Station Newport. At that time, the rating had been overwhelmed with Sailors converting to the legalman rating through the General Targeted Enlistment and Perform-To-Serve Programs.

Suddenly, the rating was overmanned in all three CREO groups. JAG Corps leadership recognized a need for change in the recruitment and education of Legalmen. Plans were devised to streamline the rating to ensure recruitment of only the finest Sailors who would serve the U.S. Fleet as true paralegals with ABA-accredited degrees.

During the three-year hiatus of legalman accession, NJS created an innovative course of study for new legalmen, incorporating university paralegal courses with military legal training.

Working with Roger Williams University in Providence, a challenging 11-week curriculum was established, incorporating eight weeks of paralegal studies courses (10 credit hours) and three weeks of military justice, civil law and operational law training.

The first 10 students in the new Legalman Accession course will graduate today at 9 a.m., representing the next generation of Navy legalmen. The ceremony will be held in Building 1112. Rear Adm. Bruce MacDonald, JAGC, will be the guest speaker.

These Sailors endured a rigorous screening process, and were hand-selected by the Judge Advocate General (JAG) Corps command master chief to lead the legalman community into the Judge Advocate General's 2020 Vision for the Navy legal community.

The graduates are:

Navy Prep looking for host homes

By LT. TOM SHELTON

NAPS Sponsor Coordinator

The Naval Academy Preparatory School (NAPS) at Naval Station Newport seeks volunteers to sponsor midshipmen and cadet candidates for the 2007-2008 academic year.

The NAPS Midshipmen and Cadet Candidates Sponsor Program provides students with the opportunity to formulate relationships with the civilian and military members of the surrounding community and for the sponsors to provide a home away from home while acting as a mentor and role model for future midshipmen and cadets.

Host families offer students respite from the rigors of their military and academic responsibilities and an opportunity to relax in an informal, hospitable environment.

Sponsors provide transportation, extend invitations to community and/or family activities or functions, or open their homes to students for a home-cooked meal, a place to study, or just for watching. Additionally, there are holiday periods such as Thanksgiving, Christmas and spring break when some students will be unable to make it home.

For some of the students arriving this month, it will be their first experience being away from home. Typically liberty periods are Fridays, 4:30 p.m. to midnight; Saturdays, 8:30 a.m. to midnight; and Sundays, 8:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Sponsors should live within 25 miles of NAPS and have a positive outlook on the military. Military sponsors should hold the rank of E-7 and above.

To become a sponsor, or for additional information regarding the program, contact Lt. Tom Sheldon by e-mail at sponsors@naps.edu, or by phone at 841-3488 or 841-3489, Extension 129. Or visit the NAPS website at www.naps.edu, and click on the "Sponsor Info" icon.

Fleet and Family Support Center

Let's make that resume sizzle

EDITOR'S NOTE: Some of the Fleet and Family Support Center workshops and meetings require registration. Call 841-2283 for information.

The Fleet and Family Support Center is offering a workshop entitled, "Effective Resumes," on Thursday, July 12, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A resume is one of your most important tools when looking for a job. Learn how to prepare an effective resume that will get you an interview.

This workshop will cover what to include on your resume, which format to use, and other resume writing tips.

Reading Your Credit Report — Learn about information on credit reports at the Fleet and Family Support Center on Tuesday, July 24, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Credit reports are used not only by banks, loan companies, and credit card companies, but also by rental property agencies, potential employers, and can be part of a job security clearance process.

Bring a copy of your credit report, available at www.annualcreditreport.com to the class and find out how to read the report, understand it, and correct any errors you may find.

Career Options and Navy Skills Evaluation Program (CONSEP) — This four-day seminar is for mid-term personnel with six to twelve years of service and scheduled at the Fleet and Family Support Center for July 30 through Aug. 2, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The curriculum is divided into four parts: self-assessment, personal financial planning, Navy career options, and civilian career planning.

Operational deferment eased to 12 months for new mothers

WASHINGTON — The Navy announced the release of OPNAVINST 6000.1C, Navy Guidelines Concerning Pregnancy and Parenthood, June 14, updating the Navy's pregnancy instruction for the first time since 2003.

The revision incorporates legislative and Department of Defense changes to the current policy regarding both pregnancy and parenthood, following an 18-month comprehensive review coordinated by the Office of Women's Policy.

The Bureau of Medicine and the Office of Women's Policy reviewed the most recent medical literature and determined that the current instruction no longer met the needs of Navy women.

Specifically, the new instruction extends the operational deferment for new mothers from four months to 12 following delivery. This change was intended to properly address medical concerns that may arise following pregnancy that may not show up until six months post partum. Increased post partum depression testing is also provided for, as is greater support for military members undergoing adoptions and in-vitro fertilization.

"The release of this updated instruction is very exciting, but it is by no means an end-state for us," said Lt. Stephanie

Miller, head of the Office of Women's Policy in Arlington, Va. "We are constantly looking at new issues and ways to make sure we are doing the right thing for women and families in the Navy."

Several other minor changes are incorporated. For information on these and other changes to the instruction, refer to NAVADMIN 157/07.

Thrift Shop closes for July today

The Navy Marine Corps Relief Society's Thrift Shop at Naval Station Newport will close for July today at 1 p.m. This includes the donation bin, NMCRS Director Joanne O'donnell has announced. The bin will reopen on Aug. 7 at 8 a.m. and the store will reopen Aug. 14 at 11 a.m. While the Thrift Shop is closed for this period there will be no volunteers to process any donated items. Any donated items placed at the Thrift Shop will be subject to weather damage, or simply thrown away. Donors are asked to take their items to similar charitable organizations such as the Salvation Army on Memorial Boulevard, or St. Paul's Thrift Shop on Dr. Marcus Wheatland Boulevard. The Thrift Shop no longer accepts children's toys, cribs, car seats or high chairs, furniture or stuffed animals. No cardboard boxes should go in the bins. Additionally, if the donation bin is full at any time and our volunteers cannot process any more items, the bin will be closed temporarily. The sorting team will reopen the bin as soon as space allows. Please do not leave any goods in front of the Thrift Shop or the bins.

Special events

NAACP to honor First R.I. Regiment

PORTSMOUTH — The Newport County Branch of the NAACP invites the public to its annual wreath-laying ceremony on Wednesday, July 4, at 9 a.m. at Patriots' Park, at the intersection of Routes 114 and 24. The ceremony honors members of the First Rhode Island Regiment, "The Black Regiment," which fought in the historic Battle of Rhode Island on Aug. 29, 1778, a crucial battle of the Revolutionary War, helping to ensure America's independence. The guest speaker will be Fern Lima of the Newport County Branch NAACP and former president. The Rev. Dr. Cynthia Smothers will deliver the invocation and benediction. Also taking part in the ceremony will be members of the Arthur M. Burton VFW Post and the United Veterans Council of Newport County.

Community Center offers cookout

The GMH Military Housing staff will celebrate the grand opening of its newest community center in Coddington Cove with an outdoor barbecue on Tuesday, July 10, from 5 to 7 p.m. Let us serve you dinner as you preview our new community center. Door prizes will be awarded. Reservations should be made by July 9 at GMH Office at 846-8877 and Middletown for the parade on Sunday. The Coast Guard will maintain a security zone for boaters.

The sailing festival, the seventh time Newport has hosted a Tall Ships visit, also coincides with the 50th anniversary reunion at the Naval Command College at the Naval War College.

An international village of tent pavilions, each representing one of the dozen countries in the festival, has been erected in Storer Park on Washington Street, through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

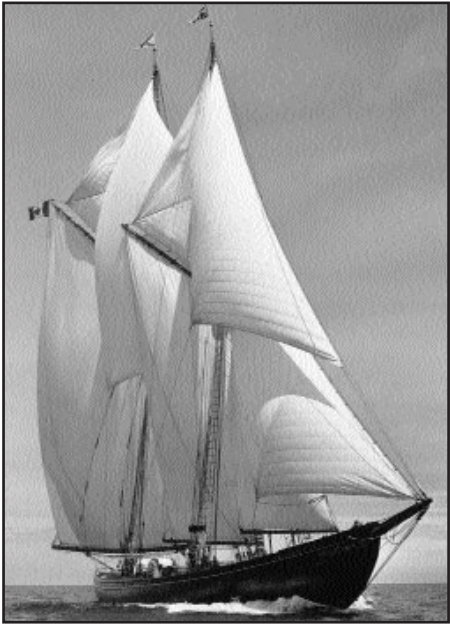

They will portray the distinctive art, crafts, attractions and native dress of each particular country and culture. Live performances will take place on outdoor stages.

A Tall Ships Festival of music, food and sail cadet competition will be held today and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at Ft. Adams.

There also will be entertainment at Bowen’s Wharf and the State Fishing Pier at Long Wharf, today and Saturday between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m.

On Saturday at 11:45 a.m., Tall Ship crews and skippers, local bands and Newport Artillery Company units, plus state dignitaries will march from the Colony House on Washington Square, down Thames Street to Wellington Avenue.

The black tie formal Tall Ships Ball, which will include Gov. and Mrs. Donald Carcieri of Rhode Island, will be held Saturday night at the Breakers mansion on Ochre Court Avenue.

THE Bluenose II, a 181-foot gaff topsail schooner, will be open for visitors at Newport Shipyard this weekend.

The ships in the parade Sunday are:

Alabama, a 90-foot gaff-rigged fore and aft schooner.

Arabella, a 160-foot three masted staysail schooner, from the U.S.

Bluenose II, 181-foot gaff topsail schooner from Nova Scotia

Cisne Branco, a 249-foot full rigged ship from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil

Dewaruci, a 165-foot three-masted ship from Indonesia

Friendship, a 116-foot full-rigged ship, from Salem, Mass.

Gloria, a 212-foot three-masted barque from Colombia.

Gorch Fock II, a 267-foot three-masted barque, from Germany

Mystic, a 167-foot topsail schooner from Mystic, Conn.

Picton Castle, a 148-foot three-masted barque, from the Cook Islands, New Zealand.

Pride of Baltimore II, a 100-foot topside schooner from Baltimore.

Prince William, a 195-foot Brig from Portsmouth, England.

Providence, an 86-foot square topsail sloop from Providence, R.I.

Shenandoah, a 152-foot square topsail schooner, from U.S.

Spirit of Bermuda, a 112-foot schooner from Bermuda.

Spirit of Massachusetts, a 103-foot gaff topsail schooner from Boston.

Tarangini, a 177-foot three-masted barque, from India

Tree of Life, a 93-foot gaff schooner from Newport

Urania, a 78-foot ketch from The Netherlands

Virginia, a 122-foot gaff topside knockabout schooner from Norfolk, Va.

Six 44-foot U.S. Naval Academy sloops, and one 44-foot U.S. Coast Guard sloop are expected to join in.

Area teens earn sea legs aboard schooner Virginia

When the 20 majestic sail training ships converged on Newport Harbor this week, a few carried teenagers from all over Rhode Island, many of whom have never stepped foot on a boat.

Amica Insurance Tall Ships® Rhode Island 2007 and the American Sail Training Association offered area teens the trip of a lifetime — 10 days aboard a tall ship.

Several Newport teens boarded the schooner Virginia in Baltimore on June 16 and arrived in Newport last Tuesday. The schooner berthed at the State Fishing Pier.

For more than a year, John Corbishley and his wife, Lori, traveled the state, meeting with students at Classical High, the Metropolitan Regional Career and Technical Center (the “Met” Schools of Providence and Newport), and a host of nonprofit organizations in every corner of Rhode Island, such as R.I. Educational Talent Search and Volunteers in Providence Schools.

The Corbishleys recruited teenagers, 14 to 19, from the Narragansett Indian tribe, Chariho High School, the Boys and Girls Clubs, and the Martin Luther King Center in Newport, just to name a few.

Nicole Beede, a Grade 8 pupil at Thompson Middle School and member of the Martin Luther King Jr. Teen Center for three years, last month said she couldn’t wait for the voyage.

“I’ll get to experience something many people never get a chance to do,” Beede said. “I’ll get to travel and learn more about working on a ship.”

“Many of the teenagers never sailed before; never

The concert is free and the public is invited as guests of the Commanding Officer. Concert audience members are encouraged to bring lawn chairs and blankets.

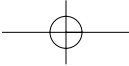

Due to increased security measures, no coolers, backpacks, glass bottles, or pets will be allowed on to the naval complex.

The general public should enter Naval Station Newport through Gate One, the main entrance near the Officers’ Club. The general public may enter Gate One starting at 4 p.m.

DJ music, food and beverage concessions, and inflatable slides and games for kids at Dewey Field will begin at 4 p.m. The Naval War College Museum will remain open with extended hours that evening in support of the event. The concert rain date is Saturday, June 30.

The concert and fireworks are sponsored by Budweiser beer (Anheuser Busch) The Home Depot and United Services Automobile Association (USAA).

Put on sunscreen, and sweat the heat

By SCOTT MACDONALD
MER Athletic Director

If you are a runner during the hot and humid days of summer, but fear that sunscreen will make you retain heat, think again.

Researchers at the University of Vermont in Burlington have found that wearing sunscreen doesn't impair the body's ability to dissipate heat. The researchers were concerned about the effects of water and sweat-resistant sunscreens and the body's ability to dissipate heat.

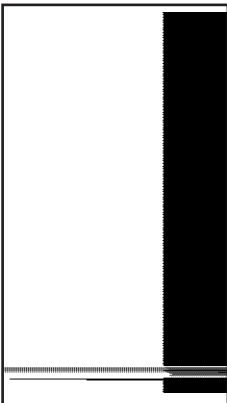

They theorized that the same properties that make these products resist water and sweat may also lead to decreased heat loss. The testing went as follows: 22 men underwent two 40-minute exercise tests once with a full-body application of sunscreen and once without.

Measuring (testing) was as follows: mean skin temperature (MST), rectal temperature, oxygen consumption and heart rate.

The findings:

- Only mean skin temperature appeared to have been impacted by applying sunscreen.
- Initially applying sunscreen significantly reduced MST. These effects occurred in the first few minutes. After that, MST values were similar in both treatment conditions.

Navy Newport representatives will take part in the Raytheon Company sponsored Military Appreciation Night at the Newport Gull baseball game on July 9 at Cardines Field, Senior Chief Operations Specialist (SW) Robert Weimer, Naval War College, said.

There will be free admission for military. The game starts at 6:35 p.m.

The first pitch will be thrown by Capt. Thomas Rowden, commanding officer of the Surface Warfare Officers School Command.

The Newport Gulls, members of the New Collegiate Baseball League, opened their season on June 8.

The military honor guard will be staffed by the Marine Corps Detachment Newport, led by Sgt. Thomas Burns.

The National Anthem will be sung by soloist Musician 3rd Class Laura Carey of Navy Band Northeast. NBNE also will provide a Navy Dixieland Band, led by Musician 2nd Class Vince Beard.

The opening prayer will be given by Chaplain (Cmdr.) Timothy Demy.

Command Sailors of the Year, or the equivalent, will come from various members of the Armed Services in Newport and the state, Senior Chief Weimer said.

There will be free parking across the street at the Newport Visitors' Center garage.

reported on board the submarine USS Henry Clay (SSBN 625) Gold Crew where he served in various engineering and operations department billets and completed four strategic deterrent patrols.

In May 1985 he was assigned to the staff of Commander, Submarine Group SIX as the flag lieutenant for the Group Commander.

After completing the Submarine Officer Advanced Course in New London, Conn., he served as engineering officer on board USS Benjamin Franklin (SSBN 640) Blue Crew. During his tour, the ship completed a refueling overhaul, post overhaul shake-down operations and one strategic deterrent patrol.

McBrearty next served as a member of the Nuclear Propulsion Examining Board on the staff of Commander in Chief United States Pacific Fleet before returning to sea in January 1993 as Executive Officer on board USS Honolulu (SSN 718). During his tour, the ship completed a depot modernization period and an Eastern Pacific deployment. Next, he served as the military assistant to the Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Policy.

McBrearty assumed command of the submarine USS Dallas (SSN 700) in February 1998. During his tour, Dallas completed the first certification and deployment of the special warfare dry deck shelter onboard a Los Angeles class submarine. While under his command, Dallas earned the Commander Submarine Squadron Two Battle Efficiency "E" for 1999 and 2000 in addition to numerous departmental awards.

Upon his relief in November 2000, McBrearty attended the Naval War College where he earned a master's in international studies. After completing his degree, he reported to Submarine Squadron 2 in New London, where he served as Deputy Commander for Training.

From July 2003 to September 2005, McBrearty served as Commanding Officer of Trident Refit Facility in Kings Bay, Ga. Most recently he served as the Chief of Staff for Commander Submarine Group Two in New London.

McBrearty's awards and decorations include the Defense Superior Service Medal, the Legion of Merit (two awards), the Meritorious Service Medal (three awards), the Navy Commendation Medal (three awards), and the Navy Achievement Medal (two awards).

Sea Cadets

tion at the Buttercup damage control trainer. NAVSTA Newport is supporting the program with berthing space, access to Ney Hall galley, and use of the MWR recreational facilities.

The group is scheduled to visit the guided missile frigate USS Stephen W. Groves (FFG 56), the visiting ship at the 222nd annual Independence Day Parade in Bristol; Battleship Cove in Fall River, Mass.; and the USS Constitution in Boston.

During the second week, cadets are scheduled to visit SWOS for an orientation in the Full Mission Bridge Trainer, and tour the USCG cutter Tigershark at Goat Island, Newport.

Other activities include a visit to downtown Newport; Mystic Seaport, Mystic, Conn.; and Martha's Vineyard.

Bush

Carcieri reportedly also arranged for Bush to visit a sail training ship in Newport Harbor, one of 20 ships here until Sunday afternoon for the Amica Tall Ships Rhode Island 2007 festival.

Bush was scheduled to leave Newport about 3 p.m. yesterday and head north to his father's seaside estate in Kennebunkport, Maine, for the holiday week.

The president's father, former President George H.W. Bush, spoke at NWC graduation ceremonies in 2001.

stepped foot on a boat," said Corbishley, who started sailing at age 10 and is Past Commodore of the Newport Yacht Club.

When Don Mays, the coordinator at the Martin Luther King Center learned about this opportunity, he immediately submitted names of teens for the sail.

"For many years, ships such as these have been used to provide sailors in navies around the world the training to work together and develop a sense of self-confidence that cannot be duplicated in other environments," said festival co-chairman retired Vice Adm. Thomas Weschler. "I encourage all parents to seriously consider these journeys as a tremendous opportunity for their children."

The festival continues through to Sunday morning with special events, including a Parade of Sail on Sunday at 12:30 p.m.
